To the Courteous Readers.

Gentlemen,

This is the One and Thirtieth Year of my Appearance to the World in this kind among the rest of my Brethren, whose good Fortune their happy Conjectures and Practice Mathematical I no ways envy and (as I have said many Years since, I say the same still) I thank God live free from Prejudice against any Person breathing, and therefore give no just cause to provoke their Envy and Calumny. Yet I think 'tis a dangerous kind of Boldness to appear publicly upon the Stage, as insulting pragmatical Antagonist. — But as to the matter in hand, I here present the Reader with an Ephemeris for the Year 1702, where you have the Longitude, Latitude and Aspects of the Planets faithfully calculated from Astronomia Anglicana by an Ingenious Artist, and special Friend of mine, who had taken the pains to compute Ephemerides for four Years from the said Tables, but could never yet meet with encouragement to Print them. Here you will have also my Judgment of, as well Observations on the (aforesaid) present Year, in which there is celebrated a most famous Conjunction of the Superiors h and u in the sign v , England's Ascend, and of the fiery Triplicity, in which they will meet every 10. year for 100 years yet to come; and in the year 1802 they enter into the Barthy Triplicity, and meet in the sign w , but twice in once in u , and once again in v , 1762, before. We have been under the influence or effects of these Conjunctions ever since the year 1603, which time by our own Experience we have seen and known most prodigious Effects to follow, as Wars, Plagues, Fires, and many other Calamities, Plottings, Murthers, and strange inhuman, barbarous and violent Actions amongst Mankind, as being the natural Effects of such Causes. Now the ensuing Conjunction in the sign v should be very significant in its Effects, and it may be attended (as is usual) with a Comet also, or Bright Star; this Conjunction is that which is called Great, and its Effects should be the more universal, in regard it falls so near the Equinoctial Point, and in the very beginning of the Zodiack; but those in the sign u have more respect to the North, and those in t to the Southern parts of the World; in regard their Declination is such from the Equator. To conclude, the Knowledge of future things ('tis true) belongs to God alone, and no rational man should presume to have a true and certain acquisition of Contingent Events, but all I pretend to is, a modest Conjecture, which I hope will offend no Man: And thus I leave it to the Censure of the Judicious, and remain their old Friend and humble Servant

The Law's a thing Divine, made to Repel
The sinful Lusts of such as do Rebel Against right Reason, Justice, Faith, their Prince;
And for the Injur'd Man a good Defence.

It's Use is to Correct, and keep in fear,
Such as don't value what they Act or Swear.

Some Men of Zeal condemn all Usury,
 But that we think too great Severity;
 Without it Trade would languish, and the Poor
 Be more necessitated than before.

Excess makes Vice; on Interest you may lend,
 But have Extortion whilst you seem a Friend.
 And you that borrow, mind to keep your Day,
 Else you not only Use but Cost must pay.

"That Man will dye a Beggar without doubt,
 "Whole daily Gain is less than's Layings out.

Monarchs are God's Vice-Roy, the Imperial Thrones

No hand but Heaven Paramount doth own;

Their lawful Scepters Power Divine doth sway;

But Subjects Work and Duty's to Obey.

Good Kings and Emperors, born to Command,

Are Fortunate in all they take in hand.

They reap the Blessed Fruit which they have sown,

Who Prize the Peoples Good more than their own.

Pax optima veritas.

The Princes of Europe seem to be at a stand in their present Resolutions, and the Monarch of France should be much concern'd in his present Consultations, but not without cause, tho' we of the English Nation, perhaps, as much concern'd as most others, and now we may expect pleasing News from several parts of Europe, of some very considerable Matters in action. The Aspects of this Month are not very propitious, and we know there is too often a necessity for War, of which, about this time, we may have very great Discourse pro & con. Now the Affairs of Europe seem to be upon the Balance, and his Majesty of England very active therein to good purpose. Yet I say, Iustum Bellum quibus necessarium. And Salus Populi Suprema Lex.

Later Anguis in Herio

This should prove
Month of much Action
for many and various
the Configurations, there
of. Amongst the rest, the most famous Conjunction
of Saturn and Jove
Aries, the 19 day, in
about 7 deg. thereof
Turkey, Tartaria, Muscovy, Westphalia, Bohemia, and many other Kingdoms
and Countries, should be vigilant, and look about
them, and, perhaps, en-out Arms, Arms. Nor also People will be to Murdery, and 'tis to be feard, we may hear
very strange Actions
some of those aforementioned Places.

Let us patiently wait
see the effects of the Influence of the Superi-
ours, which may be
sudden and various whe-
least expected in things
relating to the Microcosm. Sed Cynthus aureus
vallis.

This Month begins with the Quadrant of Venus, with both Saturn and Mars, is attended with other very Material Conjunctions, which may produce as much variety in our Actions. Amongst the rest the Great and Famous Lewis does no great thing with all his Potency and Stratagems against the Emperor. Notable Endeavors in many Countries, to joyn in Conjuracy to carry on for high Design now in Agitation. And the Grievances and Complaints the Distressed both at home and abroad, are taken to Consideration. Amongst the rest, here seems double Honour conferred upon some deserving Persons, and probably a very Signal Marriage Celebrated about this time. Also there are things amongst us in Agitation, which may end the general Satisfaction the whole Nation.

Aurato Princeps Aries in villeye fulgens, Respicit admirans adversum surgere Taurum, &c.

THE Princely Ram, clad in his Golden Wool,
Looks back admiring to behold the Bull
Against him rise, who with a cheerful Face
Calls to the Twins, to bid them mend their pace;
The Crabb these follows, and the Lion than;
Next the Cæstrial Maid, (not known by Man):
Libra comes after, who (lest time should fail)
Weighs out the Days and Nights in equal Scale,
And calls the Scorpion on, who in his Train
Bears a bright fulgent Star, at which (in vain)
The Centaur (with his String drawn to his Ear)
Aims his keen Shaft: the Goat doth next appear,
That's Capricornus call'd, who oft-times lours,
Because to quench his Star, Aquarius pours
His Laver forth: next after him be plac'd
Pisces, which of the Twelve Signs is the last.

GOLEY's Astrological Observations. 1702.

I here invoke Uraniah to my aid,
And all the Muses; let it not be said,
But to your Lovers you repay Good-will;
Disdain not to impart some Skill:
"Sun, Moon, and Stars, assist me with your Rays,
"Grant Power, as you were wont in Herme's days.

The Prologue, or Introduction to the following Discourse.

Nothing is more certain, than that those glorious Bodies the Stars, next under God, (who is the first-moving Cause) have Influence (and vertue) upon all Sublunary Bodies; and they are the secondary causes of the Generation and Corruption, also Production and Consummation of all things in this sublunary and elementary World; and therefore he hath in his secret Wisdom so dispos'd of the Constitution of those Cælestial Bodies, that his Will, by their operations and several Influences, is from the beginning of the World acted and perform'd by them to the end thereof; whence St. Austin frequently inculcates these words in his Works, Deus Regit inferiora per superiora, agreeing with that of Hermes, Quod est superius est sicut id quod est inferius. And Gerson excellently contends thus, 'Heaven is the Instrument of God, whereby he governeth this corruptible and inferiour elementary World. And farther in another Proposition he adds also these words, viz. 'That God foreknowing the chances of men, had describ'd certain agreeable tokens in Heaven concurring with the course of the World, even to the Day of Judgment, &c. And thus the Astrologer considers future Events (or Effects) as they are foresignified in their known Causes. Knowledge of future things without their causes, absolutely belong to God Almighty only, and to those to whom he is pleas'd to reveal them, as to his Prophets, &c. whom he inspires. But in their Causes Men may attain that Knowledge as Astrologers, Physicians, Husbandmen, &c. Hence Astrology goes no farther than that Knowledge that is attain'd by (or from) natural Causes: so that if a man can shew the Adversary a natural Cause for his Conjecture, I think, 'tis no Crime or the least Intrenchment upon God's Providence, to give a modest Judgment of the Effects that may follow from their particular Influences, as from great Conjunctions, Blazing Stars or Comets, and other Cælestial Phenomena, grounded upon many hundred years Experience, and yet no fatal Necessity maintain'd, &c.

COLEY's Astrological Observations. 1702.

Astrological Observations upon the Quarterly Ingresses of the Year 1702. and, First, of the Winter Quarter;

Which this Year commences Decemb. 10. 1701. about 11h 45' p.m. that is near midnight, at which time there will be the end of Virgo ascending, viz. about 28 d. and about 27 d. of Gemini culminating; the Moon defluxing from the δ of γ , and $\ast$ of δ , and applying to the δ of η . Moreover, γ and δ beholds each other by a friendly Δ , and η and φ are in $\square$ Aspect, — and thus stands the Position. 'Tis true, 'tis no time for Action, yet doubtless 'twill be found a very busie Quarter for consultation both at home and abroad, how affairs shall be manag'd the ensuing Spring; and we, among the rest, have cause to look about us, having so great and potent an Enemy to deal wth, an active losry-spirited Prince, that never yet neglected any Stratagem to accomplish his Designs. Now by a curious Inspection into the Cælestial Cabinet of Nature, involved and absconded in the several Configurations of the Planets, Prodigies, Conjunctions, Eclipses, Comets and other concomitant Causes, we may thereby be able to discover (in a great measure) the several Mutations of Kingdoms, the grand Revolutions of Empires and Dominions, also the most remarkable Sublunary and General Accidents of the World, &c. Now the Position of Heaven at the Sun's Ingress into Capricorn, I must confess, promises no great matters of Good this Quarter. People are now strangely possess'd, and afflict themselves with many Fears and Jealousies, a general repining, many treacherous Consultations, breach of Leagues and Friendship, or some unhappy Controversies breaks out, or may daily be expected; but we may justly hope this will be of no long continuance, in regard Jove and Mars are in friendly Trine, and some other friendly or benevolent Configurations this Quarter; and, in fine I may conclude, many and very considerable are the Consultations now on foot in most Nations of Europe; and many secret Actions under examination, and the Persons concern'd of no mean or ordinary quality, nor their Crimes slight or inconsiderable, but in the end one impeaches and accuses another, whence much Treachery and Knavery may be happily discover'd. I am very sensible that great are the Expectations of most Men, what will be transacted amongst us this Year, of which consult the Monthly Observations. And for the Diseases, they should not differ much from those of the last Winter-Quarter.

COLEY'S Astrological Observations. 1702.

II. Of the Spring Quarter;

Which by some Tables commences March the 9th, 11^h 25 p.m. but by the latest new Tables (which should be more correct) March the 10th, at 1^h 38' mane, above 2 hours later. By the first we have 27 d. of M ascending, by the last about 22 d. of T; the Sun at the same time meets a Conjunction of H; the Moon applies to the $\square$ of U, and $\ast$ of V; the Position of the Planets that day at Noon, and their Aspects each Month in this Quarter, may be seen by the Ephemeris; so that let the Ascendant be what it will, here is foundation sufficient to deduce a Judgment from, which take as follows. I am of opinion that this may prove Annus mirabilis, or a Year of admiration; and this Quarter produces very significant Configurations or Aspects of the Planets among themselves, in which that admirable Congress falls in May, in the Sign Aries, of the two Superiours, whose effects will be more or less in operation for 20 years yet to come. The Influences of the Complications of the Beams or Rays of the Cælestial Wanderers this Quarter (as well as the rest) depending or appointed by Divine Providence to manifest their effects (both good and bad) should be very considerable, and operate in the Courts of Princes, and in all probability amongst some of the most eminent Persons and Families of Europe; whence some Persons may fall under the Severity of the Law, and if they make not their escape from Justice, (according to their Qualities) may end their Days by Decollation. A time of Action is approaching, and 'tis now apparent that what has been long since in Debate or Council will very shortly (or at least this Summer) break out into some considerable military action. Now 'tis very probable that the martial or warlike actions of this Summer should compleat what the last year was little more than furniz'd or look'd for. And near unto these times some kind of astonishment or surprize seized an active Potentate of Europe, to see that his Projects do not succeed according to his expectation, being strangely circumvented or frustrated by the Vigilancy and no less Activity of Neighbor-Princes. And hence we may conclude there is a Great and Supreme God in Heaven, that most justly and equally over-rules, and oftentimes overthrows, all ill-intended designs acted (or to be acted) in this World; and all politick Councils too, not rightly grounded upon Equity and Justice; Exurge Deus & dissipetur Anglorum inimici. To conclude, the Diseases of this Quarter should be Fevers, Quartan Agues, Gripes, &c.

COLEY's Astrological Observations. 1722.

and many more, too long to be repeated; but I have great hopes of a seasonable Spring, and a Summer not much different from the last, Da pacem Domini diebus nostris.

III. Of the Summer Quarter.

THIS Quarter always takes beginning when the Sun (to appearance) touches the first scruple of ☿; and this Year initiates June 11, at 2^h 4' mane, at which time the latter deg. of ♄ culminates, and the beginning of ♀ ascends; the ☾ separates from the Δ of ♂, and applies to the * of ♄; the 2 Inferiours ♄ and ♀ are in *, and both the Superiors are in □ to ♄, who is also hastening to the ♂ of ♂, from Cardinal Signs. And many are the Configurations of this Month, and much more remarkable this Quarter; from whence I shall deduce this following Judgment, modestly and fairly, secundum artem, which no Critick shall have the least occasion to cavil at. We have a large Field to walk in, and much may be said concerning the general Transactions of the Year, but things of the greatest admiration should be acted in remote parts, or far from England; we should continue moderately quiet amongst our selves, (and 'tis great Prudence so to do) yet, I fear, in some parts of Europe thousands may be unhappily cut off on the one side and the other, for it should be a time of Action abroad; probably the Ottoman Family, also the Hungarians, and the Emperor should shew themselves this Summer more bravely active than was generally expected: Now great things are promis'd in foreign parts, and such perhaps that many years before has not produc'd; but methinks he's much more happy, that quietly in a Wood contemplates the Universe as his own, and in it the Sun, Moon and Stars, the pleasing Meadows, shady Groves, green Banks, stately Trees, flowing Springs, and the wanton windings of a River, (fit Objects for quiet Innocence) than he that with Fire and Sword disturbs the World, and measures his Possessions by the wast that lies about him. But in the midst of all our Happiness we find the Spirits of some sort of Men among us too often perplex'd, and thereby they change their Resolutions, and whisper dangerous things, as if some new quarrel or disturbance were likely to break out among us, or some dangerous Plot contriving, to spoil and frustrate all our Happiness; and why some mens minds should be thus infatuated, I think no man can give a sober Reason, nor themselves neither. Some pretend tender Consciences in matters of Religion, others are variously byas'd; some by Promise or Oath, others by Interest rest, &c. and yet I can't but judge these unreasonable Desires and Endeavours will terminate in an indifferent or passive Calm of Obedience. In fine, we may expect the Actions of this Summer Quarter to be of great concernment both in Martial and Civil affairs; for Mars continues in his exaltation all this Quarter, tho' in no violent angry Sign, yet Cardinal, and therefore Effectual, &c.

IV. Of the Autumnal Quarter ;

WHich always begins when the Sun (to appearance) touches the first scruple of the Equinoctial Sign ♈, and this year falls upon Septemb. 12. at 3 after noon, (but two hours later by some Tables) which gives about 26^d of ♍ on the Midheaven, and 15^d of ♌ ascending, the Moon separates from a ☐ of Mars, and hastens to a ✱ of ♍ ; the ☉ this Month is oppos'd both by Saturn and Jupiter, and so is Mercury also, which may have very significant effects or signification, 'tis to be fear'd, and of a violent nature. — The Minds and Opinions of Men we find still to be very various, and human actions are many, and of different natures; for some Persons we find (notwithstanding the best that can happen) will be repining and plotting Mischief against their Superiors, tho' they ruin themselves thereby. All that I need say is, the Labour of these present times is great, the Work must therefore be perform'd by many hands; 'tis the Influences of Heaven which instigates and drives on various Resolutions in People in general, and they ordain'd by God Almighty to shew that Kingdoms and Commonwealths have both risings and downfalls in the affections of Subjects, and that no Engagement holds so firm in the Peoples affections, as Justice impartially distributed, and a seasonable compliance for redress of Peoples grievances, when once made known and represented to them that have power and rule over them. We shall most assuredly find this a very busie active Quarter, and many notable matters vigorously transacted therein, Sed absque Deo nihil possumus. And thus I shall conclude my Judgment upon the 4 Quarters of the Year, in the words of an ingenious modern Author, viz. That Human Eyes can't see beyond their Horizon, in the discerning of future Contingencies, and in the conduct of worldly Actions; for what we desire or dread seldom falls out directly, but something intervenes which we least thought of; and if what (things) we expect do happen, they come not many times till after the search; which sheweth that there is a supernatural All-disposing power above, and therefore 'tis not safe our Minds (altogether) to depend or stay at second Causes, it induce a forgetfulness of the first; but we must pass higher by a speculative act of the Understanding, observe the distinction, dependency and subordination of Causes to the high will Providence, and then we must confess with the Poet, That chief Link of Nature's Chain is ty'd to the Foot of Jupiter's Chair. Lastly, Corn should be plenty, and bear a moderate good Price, especially Wheat and Barley, and consequently salt; but that of Coals can't be expected but they should advance considerably.

COLEY's Astrological Observations. 1702.

V. Of the Eclipses of this present Year 1702.

Here should be three Eclipses of the Luminaries this Year, (some say four) but there's only one will be visible in our horizon, and that is of the Moon, Decem. 23. at 3 quarters past 6 the morning, the beginning at 5^h 22' 54" mane; the true Opposition at 6^h 49' 43"; the greatest Obscuration at 6^h 46' 16", and the End at 8^h 9' 38"; total Duration 2^h 46' 44"; Digits eclipsed 6. 52' 40"; Latit. of the ☾ at the beginning 39' 30", and at the end 32' 1' South descending. Thus according to the Tables of my worthy Friend Mr. John Wing, viz. his new Tabulae Scientia Stellarum, the most correct extant. The other 2 Eclipses of the Sun; the one falls Jan. 17. 1^h 34" mane; the other July 13. near 10 at night, both invisible to us: there may be another small Eclipse of the ☾ June 28, but so small, 'tis inconsiderable, and not worth our notice. The visible Eclipse of the Moon falls in Cancer; but 'tis observable that Eclipses and other Conjunctions of the Planets produce not such universal Effects as those of great Conjunctions of Saturn and Jupiter, which we have in V, in May this year, very remarkable, and worth our notice; besides Comets, New-Stars, and other Celestial Phenomena, which appear'd in some places of England last year, as mock Suns and mock-Moons, as I am inform'd; and altho' they proceed from a natural cause, may be the forerunners of some kind of Mischief impending. Eclipses have doubtless their Events both upon Man and Beast, and never can signify any thing of good; but those that are invisible to a Country are less powerful. The learned Guido, fol. 528. advises us to consider in our Annual Judgments of particular Places and Persons therein, in these words, Cui climati præsit quilibet Planeta, &c. Consider and have regard to the Planet that shall preside over or govern each Climat, and observe in what state he stands, for the general Accidents of that Planet shall be suitable to

to his Existence. Therefore, I say, let England improve the Talent wisely, and its Fame may be most splendid; Scotland Crab of Misfortune will shortly crawl backward; let Ireland be wise and repent; Holland may go on and prosper; let France make Peace with its Neighbors, and live a retir'd life; Spain must now look about 'em wisely; Italy will find many Enemies, both publick and private; Germany's Emperor will be extream active, and prosecute most high and lofty Resolutions tho' too often to its loss and detriment.

Note, that the Semidiurnal Arch of the Pleiades is always 8^h 16^m.

COLEY'S Astrological Observations. 1702.

VIII. The Use of the aforesaid Tables, viz.

In the first Table you have the Southings of the Seven Stars for every 5th day in the Year, as is plain by bare inspection. Example, Jan. 1. they come to the South at 57 min. past 7, the 6th day at 14 min. past 7. The 11th day at 14 min. past 7 after Noon, as the Letters A directs; understand the same of the rest, and note that the Letters M signifies Morning, and the Letter A Afternoon, &c.

Now, if you desire their Risings and Settings also, as in my former Almanacks was constantly set down every year, (and one of them will serve yet many years) that is, to every 5th Day in each Month of the Year; then in the first place remember the Semidiurnal Arch of the Pleiades before noted, viz. 8^h 16^m. And now to know when this Constellation will rise and set the first day of January, the Rule is, to subtract this 8^h 16' from the time of their Southings (7^h 57') by adding 12 hours, if need be, and the remainder is the time of their rising 11^h 41' mane, and this 8^h 16' being added to the aforesaid 7^h 57', the sum is 16^h 13', which is 4^h 13' in the morning, casting away 12^h, and so in others. In the second Table of the Fixed Stars, in the first Column is their Names, in the second is the time in hours and minutes that they South after the Pleiades; the third Column is their Semidiurnal Arches, or half continuance above the Horizon, by which is found their rising and setting. As for example; I would know when Aldebaran, or the Bull's Eye, will be South the first of January: I find by the Table the Star is South 0^h 49^m after the Pleiades; noted by the Letter (A), therefore I add 0^h 49^m to 7^h 57^m the sum is 8^h 46^m after Noon, and then the Bull's Eye will be upon the Meridian on Newyears-day. And for the time of his rising and setting do thus, Subtract his Semidiurnal Arch from his Southings, as directed in the Pleiades which is 7^h 28^m from 8^h 46^m aforesaid, and there remains 1^h 18^m after Noon, the time of its rising. But if I add the aforesaid Hours and Minutes, the sum will be 16^h 14^m past Noon, that is, 14^m past 4 the next Morning, the time of the Bull's Eye's setting. The same method is to be us'd with any of the rest, and by this means you may find the hour of the Night by the Stars, also the true time of their rising, southings and setting; and consequently you may hereby learn to know all those 16 Stars which are call'd Fixed, as soon as you see them, which cannot but be very pleasant and delightful, when well understood, to any ingenious person, which is very easie by these large Directions and Examples.

IX. Historical Remarks, fit to be consider'd at this present time.

By comparing what is past with the present Transactions of Europe, (together with the consideration of Starry Influences) we may be able to foresee what in all probability may be the future state thereof, according to that Saying, Qui respicit præterita, & indicit præsentia, prospicit etiam & futura. By considering seriously, rather consulting of History, we may see the various Examples of Virtue and Vice, of human Imbecilities, of various Changes in Kingdoms, States, and all Governments, of the Mutability that is in mens Minds,

COLEY's Astrological Observations. 1702.

Minds, of the Inconstancy of their Affections, of the cunning and falsehood in Promises and Covenants, and the vanity in human Felicity.

If we examin History and Chronology, we may behold the Microcosm of Mankind for many 100 years acting over and over again the same Tragi-Comedies. We may read of new Persons and Vizards, but the same things acted. A man that observes the actions of People of all degrees in all Ages narrowly, may easily discover nothing almost but Treacheries, Murders, Incests, Adulteries, Thefts, Perjuries, Oppressions, Imprisonments, Cares, Watchings, Travellings, underminings of one another, Princes tyrannizing over the People, Subjects rebelling against their Princes, one Prince thrusting out another, and People quarrelling and daily contesting one with another, &c. In the World we frequently see Peregrinations, Navigations, Toylings, Battels, Law suits, and a thousand Vexations, and all for a handful of Earth. Here we may see innumerable Nests of Wasps and Hornets destroying and stinging one another to death. And what is the cause of all this mischief but Pride, Ambition, Covetousness, Sacrilege, Tyranny, whimsical Opinions in Religion, &c. and above all things Injustice, for which the World has suffer'd so many changes. Justice is the Pillar upon which States and Kingdoms stand; remove that, and down falls the Temple of Government. Plutarch tells us, that Paulus Aemilius, who subdued Persus the Macedonian King, spent all his idle time in reading of Histories, which made him so good a Soldier. Charles the Great, Alexander & Severus, they did also in their times admire History very much, and to good purpose. We may read from the 2^d Macedonian War A. M. 3790, in at least 1900 years, (as History relates) and find upon the Theatre of the World the same Tragedies of Wars, Plagues, Famines, Oppressions, Tyrannies, Thefts, Murders, Fires, Earthquakes, Inundations, Massacres, Ruins of Castles, Temples, Palaces, Devastation of Towns, Cities, Alteration of Laws and Governments, &c. I say, you shall find the same Tragedies (perhaps with some variation of circumstances) reiterated by different Actors, succeeding each other in their Generations, &c. See the Story of Charon's being lifted upon the top of Parnassus, in Lucian, — Ars longa vitâ brevis. We read that in the Battle between K. Edw. IV. and Hen. VI, was slain 10000 men, and K. Hen. brought Prisoner to London. We are yet, and must continue, under the Fiery Triplicity's Dominion many years, and therefore no wonder to see and hear frequently of so great Alterations and Mutations in the Kingdoms and Commonwealths of Europe, and most parts of the Christian World; and very well may we expect such changes in this our Age, as perhaps no former time can parallel. These Comotions, sharp Contentions, and high Disputes, Plots and Controversies must arise or have their foundation from religious pretences, &c. tho' it may be presum'd that Self-ends and private Interest among the Grandeers of the World (next to Divine Providence) may be the only cause from whence arises such turbulent and troublesome effects as we in our time have seen and heard of to admiration. Predominium Elementi ignei, &c. have influence over Men, and do design Accidents to ensue unto Kings, Rulers of Commonwealths and Cities; and it hath special relation in manifesting the Seditions and Uproars of People, — and those things are ever attended with the change of Customs, Laws and Ceremonies in Religion, with Schisms and Heresies, &c. And here I think it very proper to insert and repeat a significant Saying of my worthy old Friend the Famous Mr. W. Lilly, viz. ' Thus much I say and confidently averr, that he is not alive, of any Nation whatsoever, that shall have his full career in Vengeance upon the English Nation, without his own proper destruction, and perhaps of the whole Family. And further he adds, England, England, England, thou shalt flourish again and again, thou and thy impoverish'd Cities and Merchants, and of this be assur'd; and when the fulness of time comes, or near 1700, thou shalt have a principal hand with thy Sister of Scotland, and some Northern People, in performing and concluding the mightiest actions Europe ever beheld since the Birth of our Saviour. He has many other very significant expressions concerning the Times, too long to be inserted here, as you may read in his Prophetical Merlin, p. 25, and in several other places of his Works, which I have formerly remember'd. Many notable things might be repeated, but here among our selves, in our own memory, we have seen a lamentable 20 years Civil War in England, the whole subversion both of Church and State, a Glorious King brought before the Tribunal of his own Rebellious Subjects, and unmercifully put to death by a Faction of Republicans, and then follows an ancient and flourishing Monarchy laps'd into a short-liv'd Commonwealth, a State, a Prodigium; and a miraculous return to where they began, an unheard-of Restauration of the banish'd and wonderfully preserv'd Prince, without War or Bloodshed. We have seen their mighty Emperor depos'd and strangled by his own Vassals in the same Year 1648, and his Successor much ado to escape the Rout in 1656, as History relates at large. We have seen above 20 years Civil Wars, Broils and Commotions in Poland, and the poor old King made weary of his Scepter by his own restless and unconstant Subjects; we have seen him and his Queen besides lay down their Crowns of their own accord for a more quiet and happy life, Cum multis alijs, &c. Lastly, We have seen grand Eclipses, Conjunctions, Comets, new Stars, innumerable Prodigies and Signs in the Heavens, in the Earth, in the Waters; a raging Plague marching from Country to Country, together with bloody Wars, and the most dreadful Fire as ever was design'd or contriv'd, of one of the greatest Cities in Christendom. — And perhaps we may expect greater things yet to come, of which more hereafter, if God prolongs my Life.

The Conclusion of the Year 1702.

Our appointed times have Days, Months, Years;
 Nations, Countries, Kingdoms, Monarchs, Peasants, Peers,
 A term of Life is set to every man,
 Which measur'd out, in length is but a span,
 A fleeting shadow, Dream, or Tale that's told,

A Vapour, Weavers Shuttle, clod of Mold,
 All Sublunary things their Births just have,
 Their Middle-age, and finally their Grave.
 No Almanack I have no sooner penn'd,
 But by and by its Date is at
